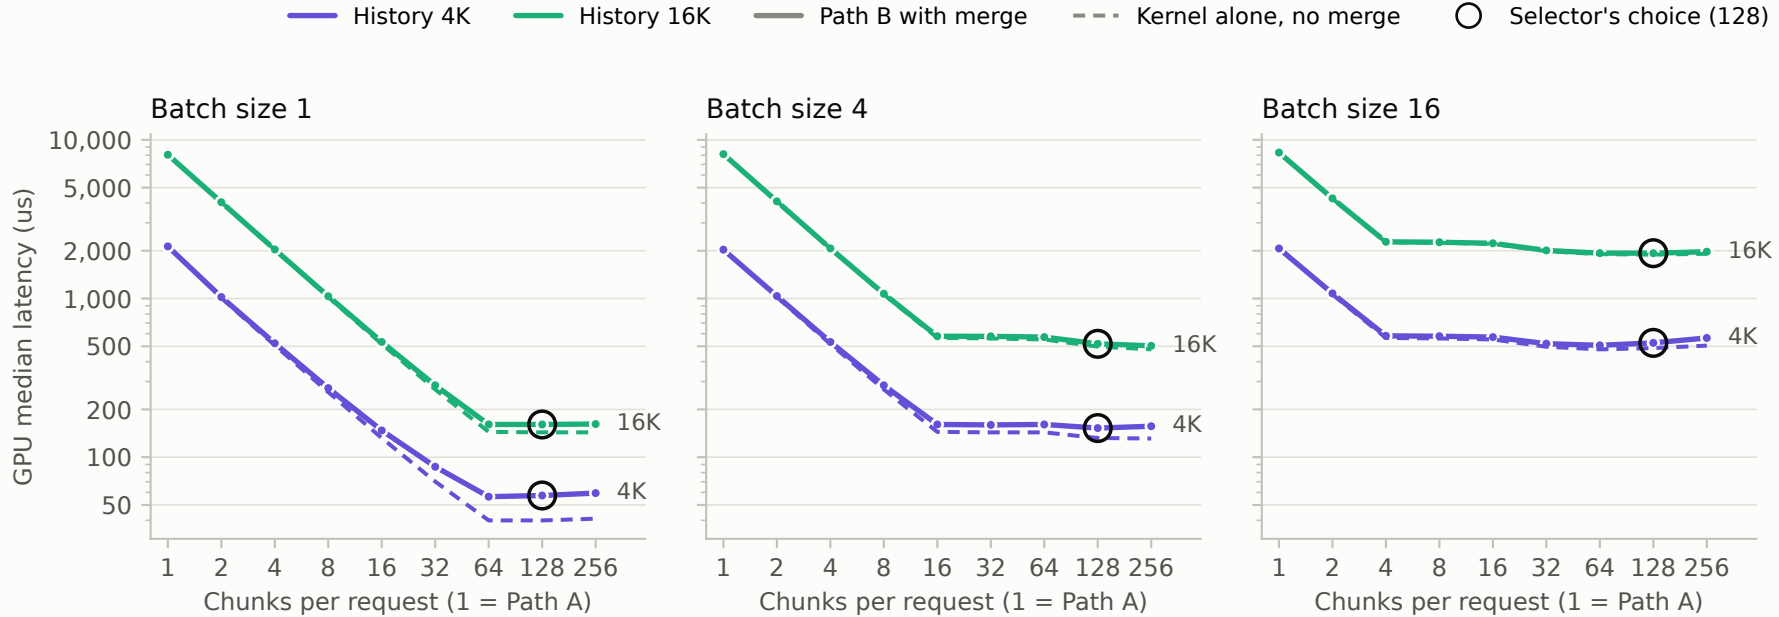
Path B latency against chunk count, FP16


Latency falls as chunks are added until the GPU is full, then flattens. The gap between each solid line and its dashed line is the merge cost.